HELPING AFFLUENT WOMEN THROUGH DIFFICULT LIFE TRANSITIONS

The death of a spouse is a traumatic event that presents both emotional and practical challenges. It changes your finances, your future and how you feel about your future. While some financial decisions should be made sooner rather than later, you can gain greater clarity and confidence about what lies ahead with the expertise and guidance of a financial advisor.

To navigate through this time of transition, and to ensure that your basic financial needs can continue to be met, work with your financial advisor on completing the following tasks over the next 12 months.

■ GET ORGANIZED

Create six colored files labeled: Banking, Bills, Taxes, Insurance, Statements and Estate Documents, and then gather and file these documents:
